

BOARD POLICY

Certificated Employees, Dismissal for Failure to Accept Employment Offer

Any certificated employee, not under tenure, who fails to signify acceptance of an employment offer within forty-five (45) days after such offer is made shall be deemed to have declined said offer of employment.

If the Board inquires, in writing, by May 30 whether or not a permanent certificated employee intends to remain in the district service, the employee must reply by July 1. Failure to indicate intention to remain in the district or to be properly released from contract may result in a recommendation by the Board to the state Department of Education to suspend the employee's credential in accordance with the provisions of the Education Code.
